(Uto-Q blog "Strong reflection (reconsideration)")

I think the order of matters is exactly important. As its basis, "a big situation explains a small situation". First, the natural situation regulates the economic situation,

The economic situation stabilizes the state of the country or the workplace,

The country or work situation controls the family situation,

The family situation dictates the personal situation.

Speaking of the time, the capital and the damage caused by the storms and floods face the current economic downturn, the deterioration of the economy causes the country's administrative situation or workplace to deteriorate, and the country's condition Deterioration or deterioration of the workplace causes the home situation to deteriorate. It is oppressing the psyche of every individual.

However, in normal times, we are oblivious to the exact opposite order, we will not forget the order. In other words, just consider your own convenience, intentions, and desires (first place), and then think of an excellent (extremely happy and fortunate) story that is appropriate, ambiguous, and moderate, and has "zero risk management." Awareness "Create space. Living the whole life" Only then can it be noted.

I was wrongly thinking about ordering things (how to set the preferred order to focus on =), so now this would be a huge success.

Deep bow!!
