(It`s a English. Our side language English II “Dokkaan”)書庫版

Important matter is that in Japan society Onomatopoeia is used not only concerning to nature(creature) field but also used on human activities.

Nature: dog Bow wow (in English)

Wan wan (in Japanese)

Human activity: (in English) Boss got angry like a explosion of bomb.

(in Japanese Rooma ji style) Bosu ga Dokkaan to ikari wo bakuhatu sasetu.

(in Japanese Hiragana & Katakana style)ボスが「ドッカーン」といかりをばくはつさせた。

(in Japanese Kanji mixed)ボスが「ドッカーン」と怒りを爆発させた。

Thus “Dokkaan” means the sound of anger.

If you hear this “Dokkaan” contained phrase, and even if you no can understand other words, it`s better to pay attention concerning to your current around situation.

We Japanese people use such a onomatopoeia in our conversation phrases.

Then we recommend you foreigners to memorize Japanese onomatopoeia phrases especially concerning to human activities.

Thank you.
